The Board will periodically review this fee schedule and adjust it as warranted.

Board Revises Standards and Self Study Document

In an effort to improve the accreditation process and promote ongoing school improvement, the Board of Directors has revised the Standards. The result is a set of Standards that are more streamlined and current to today’s educational setting. Standards include “Quality Indicators” that serve as a barometer for how well the school meets the intent of the Standard. The Board also developed two additional Standards for schools with Early Childhood and/or Extended Day Programs.

The new Standards and Quality Indicators serve as the self study instrument, and will be the tool used by the visiting team to evaluate a school’s compliance with WRISA standards.

Long Range Plan Undergoes Revision

As stated in WRISA’s mission statement, the primary goal of the association is to ‘promote continuous improvement’ in its member schools. In striving to accomplish this, the Board ensures that the schools are in compliance with the WRISA Standards. In addition, it encourages schools to move beyond ‘meeting’ all of the Standard Quality Indicators. The Board is adding a second prong to the school improvement model.

One prong consists of the Strategic Plan which is meant to address violations of Quality Indicators. If there is a violation of an ‘Essential’ Quality Indicator (identified by a double asterisk (**)) and italics in the Standards, the school community has six months to correct the violation. During the six months, the school is considered “Accredited with Provision.”

To address partial compliance in other Quality Indicators or recommendations made in the visiting team or self study report, the school has three years to address these deficiencies and recommendations. During the three years, the school is considered “Accredited.”

School leadership and other members of the school community write goals and establish a timeline for each of the deficiencies and recommendations. These clearly articulated goals should be entered into the Long Range Plan section in the Annual Report found on the WRISA website.

It is possible for a school to be in 100% compliance with the Quality Indicators and, therefore, would not need to enter goals in the Strategic Plan. In this instance, the school may choose to focus on a broader need of the school and develop a School Improvement Plan – the other prong of the school improvement model.

The School Improvement Plan is a five-year plan developed by the school that focuses on future needs of the school. It identifies broader areas of growth that will advance the school's mission. For instance, a school community may choose to develop a marketing plan as part of a comprehensive development plan. Another school community might concentrate its efforts on strengthening one area of its curriculum.

If a school community desires to do a School Improvement Plan, it should apply to WRISA. The school will be required to submit a rationale (in 150 words or less) for the choice of its topic for the School Improvement Plan. The Visiting Team may also recommend a school for this process. The Board of Directors reserves the final decision as to whether or not a school will be allowed to do the School Improvement Plan.

During the five years of the School Improvement Plan, the school community identifies the needs of the school and chooses its focus; applies to WRISA; once accepted, establishes goals and timelines for addressing the need; performs and monitors the activities needed to accomplish its goals; develops or chooses an assessment tool for measuring its success in accomplishing its goals. The principal reports the school's progress in its Annual Report to the WRISA Board of Directors.

Policy Handbook Revised

The Board of Directors completed a comprehensive revision of the WRISA Policy and Procedures Handbook. This project was identified as one of the goals in the Board's long range plan. The revised handbook reflects current educational thought, language, and the WRISA policies and procedures related to the accreditation process. An added feature to the handbook is a comprehensive glossary designed to aid school communities understand terms used in both the handbook and the Standards and Quality Indicators documents.

The handbook will be available to members on the WRISA website at www.wrisa.net.
